MANY BUSINESS PLACES, HOMES WITHOUT POWER

Metropolitan Edison Company maintenance workers, who have had little sleep since Wednesday morning, today continued their efforts to restore electric power to homes and business places throughout the county.

William Lentz, manager of the utility, said he estimated that approximately 2,500 homes and business places were without electricity because of the storm.

This morning power had been restored to about 1,300 places and workmen hoped within another 24 hours to have all current restored.

Additional crews were expected to be assigned here to help the 18 men who have borne the bulk of the work since Wednesday. The crews completed their normal day's work Wednesday, then were recalled about 9 o'clock Wednesday night and continued without rest until Thursday night. A staggered program was adopted during the night which allowed the men about 3½ hours sleep while the work continued.

Twenty-three Men Serving
In addition to the 18 in the field, five men have staffed the office since the storm began to receive notices of service interruptions and to direct the crews.

Lentz said that throughout most of Thursday "we lost as much ground as we gained. The crews kept putting lines back into service and the storm kept knocking them out almost as fast as we could restore them. Today we seem to be gaining. We have been putting the long lines back into service and that has meant sometimes taking areas and homes within the sections were still without power while their neighbors had current, but it seemed the best thing to do to get power to as many as possible as quickly as possible."

100,000 GAL. OF MILK WAITS TRUCKS TODAY

The storm halted delivery of bulk milk from most of Adams County today and caused a pile-up of delivery trucks at York Springs and Boiling Springs.

Approximately 18 trucks laden with upwards of 100,000 gallons of milk collected from 190 farms throughout the county were sitting at the Foremost Dairy at York Springs this noon with the hope that the huge tankers which normally carry the milk each day to Philadelphia are able to make their way into the city today and return today or tonight.

The tankers are loaded with another 100,000 gallon of milk—that was delivered to York Springs Thursday. The trucks were halted by the storm enroute to Philadelphia at Coatesville and elsewhere along the line and up to noon had been unable to move to their destination.

Emergency Measures

Possibly an equal amount of station is also enroute in halted trucks, and the farmers and milk gatherers who deliver there also found they could not get rid of their milk this morning.

At York Springs a small amount, possibly 8,000 gallons, was unloaded from some trucks into the 25,000 gallon storage tank at the dairy there—but with 17,000 gallons remaining in that tank from Thursday, it soon was filled and all unloading stopped.

Meantime farmers were going to unusual extremes to take care of their cattle. Lloyd Leatherman, Gettysburg R. 1, was reported as having used buckets to gather water from snow melting off his barn roof to provide water for his cows. With electric power cut off from the farm he was unable to get water from wells. Some farmers hitched tractors to provide sufficient power to operate milkers in the barns. One farmer, Ellis Stine, Fairfield R. D., found a new use for a motor powered lawn mower—he hooked this into his system and produced enough power to run the milkers.

WOMAN DIES OF CEREBRAL HEMORRHAGE

Mrs. Beulah M. Herring, 49, wife of John A. Herring, Greenmount, died Thursday afternoon at 2:12 o'clock at the Warner Hospital, 17 hours after having been admitted.

Dr. C. G. Crist, Adams County coroner, said the death was caused by a cerebral hemorrhage. Mrs. Herring had been in her usual health following supper Wednesday evening and had gone to a barn where her husband was tending some dogs. She complained of feeling ill and returned to her home where she lost consciousness within about a half hour and was transferred to the hospital.

A native of Taneytown, she was a daughter of Mrs. Mollie J. Copenhaver, Taneytown, and the late Luther C. Copenhaver. She had been employed by the Windsor Shoe Co. of Littlestown for a number of years and was a member of the Elias Evangelical Lutheran Church, Emmitsburg, and the Auxiliary of the Greenmount Fire Co. POLIO PATIENT RETURNS HOME

Thomas Richard Roth, six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Henry Roth, 43 South St., returned home today after slightly more than a year in Elizabethtown Crippled Children's Hospital.

The child was stricken with infantile paralysis August 7, 1952, and spent more than 19 months in the Harrisburg Hospital and the Elizabethtown institution, returning home in March 1954. At that time he was able to walk with crutches, while wearing a full length leg brace. Through continued "out-patient" treatment at Elizabethtown and at the Warner Hospital here, he eventually discarded the crutches.

He returned to the Elizabethtown Hospital March 11, 1957, for a series of operations including the transfer of a muscle from his abdomen to his left leg, which was most seriously affected by the paralysis, and the splitting of a tendon in the left leg to provide lift for his foot.

He will continue to wear a short brace for the time being and eventually, physicians believe, will be able to walk without the brace.

The child entered school at Elizabethtown and was one of two first graders to be listed on the "honor roll" at the end of the first half year. He will be enrolled in St. Francis Xavier Catholic School next week.

Atomic Spy Is Denied Parole

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Parole Board announced today it has denied a new parole application by David Greenglass, confessed atomic spy.

Greenglass is serving a 15-year sentence in the federal penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa.

The board denied Greenglass' first application in April 1956. At that time he had served a third of his sentence, making him eligible to ask for a parole.

Greenglass was a chief government witness in a 1951 trial of Ethel and Julius Rosenberg, who were executed in June 1953 as atomic spies for the Soviet Union. Mrs. Rosenberg was Greenglass' sister.

Sharpe gave an illustrated talk on the spring safety checkup drive which Texaco is stressing this year. He said that 20 per cent of all the automobiles in Pennsylvania are unsafe to drive. He also outlined the huge advertising campaign which Texaco has launched.

Seven door prizes were awarded.

Eve-Of-Spring Snowstorm Causes More Damage Than Hurricanes; 21 Lose Lives

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
An eve-of-spring snowstorm whipped by gale-force winds cut a devastating swath yesterday from Maryland to New England, dumping to 3 feet of snow, leaving hundreds of thousands of homes without light and heat, and crippling all forms of transportation.

In some areas the havoc was termed worse than hurricanes of recent years.

At least 21 deaths were attributed to the storm, which wheeled shoreward Wednesday from off the Carolina coast and swirled northward.

It was still snowing in many of the stricken areas today, but moderating weather was forecast in most sections by late tonight or tomorrow.

Firemen Can't Reach Fire

In Maryland the wet, freezing snowfall snapped power lines feeding some 100,000 homes. Annapolis was without power for nine hours. A large frame house in Baltimore burned to the ground when firemen were unable to surmount the drifts.

ANNUAL DINNER HELD BY YWCA; PASTOR SPEAKS

Reporting a new record high of 600 memberships, the Gettysburg Young Women's Christian Association held its annual dinner meeting Thursday evening at the "Y" building with about 70 in attendance and with Mrs. M. Lena Parr, pastor of the St. Paul's AME Zion Church, as the guest speaker.

Annual reports submitted in mimeographed form to all attending the dinner showed a membership near the 600-mark and additional members enrolled later in the evening brought the total to the goal of 600, "Y" officers reported today.

Mrs. M. Hadwin Fischer, a former board president, presided during the evening as chairman of the membership committee. Greetings were brought by Mrs. John S. Rice, also a past president, and Mrs. Robert Fortenbaugh, retiring vice president of the board, was in charge of a brief business session.

Many Help With Event

A roast turkey dinner was served by the Annie Danner Club. It had been planned by Mrs. William Conover, chairman of the Rotary committee, who came in for special praise for her services from Mrs. Fischer. The meal was prepared by Mrs. Ruth Johns. There were table favors by the Business and Professional Women's Club and table decorations were by Mrs. P. J. McGlynn and Mrs. William P. Swisher.

The invocation was given by the Rev. William E. Fenstermaker, local Methodist pastor, and the devotions were led by Mrs. Paul L. Reaser. Mrs. Guyon E. Buehler led group singing.

Speaking on the theme "Hands Across Racial Barriers," Mrs. Parr said the problem facing the world today is "prejudice among races." She traced its beginnings to the "first human family when sin came in" and added: "We have to fight this problem together with our hearts, hands and very souls in prayer. We must erase segregation from the world today although it may take years to remove this black mark."

BOY'S RESCUER HIT BY TRUCK

Timothy McKenrick, 2, son of Mr. and Mrs. William McKenrick, Baltimore, and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Flavius McKenrick, Biglerville, escaped death or serious injury when the family car he was playing in began rolling down a hill but his rescuer was injured.

An 18-year-old youth was driving nearby and saw the car rolling down the hill with the youngster clinging to the wheel. The youth leaped from his pick-up truck, caught up with the car, and reached through the window to pull the emergency brake. The young driver, however, forgot to set the brake on his truck, and it rolled down the hill pinning him to the side of the passenger vehicle. A passerby came to his aid and he was taken to the Johns Hopkins Hospital and treated for leg bruises. Timothy was not injured.

Later, Mr. McKenrick told police he had left his son in the car while he went to pay a bill.

Timmy's mother was formerly Barbara Miller, of Fairfield, and his father of Biglerville. Mrs. Jane McKenrick, in Biglerville, is his great-grandmother.

SEEK BOOKS FOR TWO LIBRARIES

Gettysburg's banks — the First National and Gettysburg National — will serve today and Saturday as depositories of books to be donated to the Adams County Free Library, or to the St. Francis Library at Loretto, the Gettysburg Junior Chamber of Commerce announced today.

The collection is being made as part of the National Library Week program, Richard Clarke, chairman of the local committee, said.

Persons who may have books they wish to donate to library may leave the books at either of the banks today or Saturday and the Jaycees will collect the books from the banks for distribution to the library.

Anyone who may wish to donate books for the St. Francis library may also leave them at the banks marked for St. Francis, and they too will be turned over to the local library which is planning to send a shipment of books to the college next week. The college recently lost its 40,000-volume library in a fire.

Members of Clark's committee include John V. Crow, Donald H. Becker, Mark Gingrich, Carroll Spence, James Spicer and Magnus Flaws Jr.

Wagner Cows Are Shocked By Snow

The storm brought electrical shock to cows in the barn at the farm of Carl Wagner in Latimore Valley, The Gettysburg Times York Springs correspondent, Mrs. Esta Coulson, reported today.

Wagner, she said, had about completed milking Thursday morning when the power went off. Moments later the cows began bawling and some fell to the barn floor.

Wagner investigated, found a power line had broken between the barn and house and dropped onto a water pipe, causing a shock to the cattle as they sought to drink from the water cups.

Wagner called to his family not to touch any water faucets or pipes in the house, and because telephone communications had been cut off by the storm drove to York Springs to call Metropolitan Edison crews who soon arrived to repair the broken line.

OLD FIRE BELL GIVES ALARM IN EMMITSBURG

While most of Emmitsburg went for 24 hours or more without electric power, the Emmitsburg firemen were called out Thursday evening at 5:40 o'clock by the old fire bell when the sprinkler alarm system in the H. O. Toor show factory there was set off by a fire that started in an overheated electric motor.

Damage from the fire itself was described as not extensive but water damage from the sprinkler was reported as "considerable."

Low voltage was blamed for the overheating of an electric motor after the plant closed down Thursday evening. The heat set in operation the nearest sprinkler and set off the outside fire alarm bell which called firemen.

12-Inch Snow There

The fire company had to be summoned by the fire bell because the electrically-operated fire siren was silenced by dead power lines.

A 12-inch snow in Emmitsburg brought down electric and telephone lines by the score. Electrical service for much of the community stopped shortly after 3 o'clock Thursday morning. Sections of the community were having electric and phone service restored today. Thursday night about 7:30 p.m. the northern part of the town had its electrical service restored.

Firemen had to set up portable lights at the scene of the fire and the firemen's portable generator had a waiting list of a half dozen homes with flooded cellars waiting to be pumped dry. Most of the cellars flooded when electrically operated sump pumps failed to function.

Emmitsburg Fire Chief John Hollinger this morning was called out to provide power for farmers to pump milk supplies from their storage tanks into a collecting tank trailer in the area. Farms that were without electricity had no means of transferring the milk into the tank trailer.

Phone Company Calls In Help

United Telephone crews today continued their task of restoring the county's telephonic communications system with John E. Caldwell, local manager, estimating that it will be Sunday before all phones are back in order.

At the peak about 1,000 phones were out of service. Caldwell said, and this morning approximately 700 were still unusable. In the meantime numerous lines were put back in operation Thursday only to go out again as the storm continued.

New poles will have to be set in large numbers throughout the county. Caldwell said that at one spot along the Littlestown Rd. sixteen poles in a row were downed by the storm.

Approximately 40 men have been taking part in the work of restoring the lines, with additional help arriving today in the form of two construction crews of five men each and two maintenance crews of two men each. The new crews came from other districts.

FIREMEN CALLED

Gettysburg firemen found the fire out almost as quickly as the alarm was sounded Thursday evening at 6:30 o'clock. The blaze was confined to a pole on Stevens St., when wires weighted with snow short circuited and caused sparks setting fire to the pole briefly. The siren sounded, but was cut off and firemen who responded were told their services were not needed as the blaze had been handled by a utility crew.

WED 43 YEARS

Mr. and Mrs. Sewell E. Kapp, Times Apts., Carlisle St., today marked their 43rd wedding anniversary. No celebration is planned, as Mrs. Kapp has been confined to her home by the flu for the past week.

PUSH WORK TO REOPEN ADAMS COUNTY ROADS

State Highway Department crews today continued their task of opening roads, and sent plows for the first time onto the stabilized earth roads under state jurisdiction.

Much of the night was devoted to placing cinders, salt and calcium on key roads. Main roads were kept open and were reported in "fair condition" today.

For an hour the weary crews thought they would have to take part in the effort to clear the Turnpike, but an hour after three crews were ordered from here to turnpike duty the order was cancelled.

24-Inch Fall

Upwards of 24 inches of snow was cleared by the maintenance men, Clyde Garber, highway superintendent, reported. Approximately 15 inches of snow fell Wednesday and Thursday. About 5 o'clock Thursday night another two to three inches was deposited and then about an inch of snow fell during the remainder of the night. The 20-inch level was general throughout much of the county, but in the Littlestown area about four more inches of snow fell than in other sections, Garber said.

Some of the highway crewmen were released to "get some sleep" late Thursday night after having worked continuously from Wednesday afternoon. Others continued on the job until this morning and then were released to some much needed rest, while the rested crews returned to duty.

FALLEN POWER LINE SETS FIRE AT FLORA DALE

Biglerville firemen were called Thursday to the William F. Thornton home, Flora Dale, when an electric power line broke under the weight of snow and, according to Harold Smallwood, acting Biglerville fire chief, dropped across a telephone line and set fire to the side of the Thornton house.

Smallwood said the blaze was confined to a partition on a corner of the house between a porch and an outkitchen and that fire damage was "relatively slight" although firemen had to remove part of the plaster from a wall in order to get into the partition to extinguish the blaze.

He added that the current from the broken electric line apparently ran along the telephone line to the house, blowing a fuse box off the wall and burning the wall where the box had been, entered the building and apparently ran along a metal siding inside the weatherboarding exterior of the part stone, part weatherboard structure.

SET DATES FOR TAX COLLECTORS

The Adams County Commissioners have set April 23, 24 and 25 as the dates when tax collectors from throughout the county will appear before them at the court house to secure exonerations of occupation taxes for persons who may have died, are indigent, have moved from the area or appeared on the tax rolls by mistake.

The commissioners decided to hold a general period when all tax collectors could appear rather than have the collectors appear from time to time to seek exonerations on an individual basis. The law provides that only the taxing authorities can give the exonerations.

Credit Bureau To Hold June Election

Plans for the annual election of board members and officers in June were outlined Wednesday evening at a meeting of the board of directors of the Credit Bureau of Adams County at the bureau office in the Plaza Building. President Kermit Sterner presided.

Secretary Ernest Dulaney reported on a new service being planned by the Associated Credit Bureaus of America, Inc., which will forward to the Adams County bureau "a previous residence report on any individuals moving into the community." Dulaney said the national office in St. Louis is now completing details of the program and complete information on the plans will be in the hands of all bureau by the end of April.

New members announced were McDermitt, Inc.; Fritz Gulf Service, McKnightstown; Hetrick's Service Center; McGlaughlin's Grocery, Round Top; Thomas Texaco Station and Breighner's Sunoco Station, Littlestown.

Damage to the Stock machine was estimated at $300 and $80 to Toomey's car by police.

It was smothered in 36 inches of snow. Hundreds of motorists crowded into homes and inns all without light, heat, water or telephone service.

The roof of the Oxford Hotel, virtually every inch of living space filled, threatened to cave in because of the weight of the snow.

MISSIONARY TO SPEAK SUNDAY

Rev. Roy Kreider, missionary on furlough from Israel, will speak at the Bethel Mennonite Church on Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

The Kreiders went to Israel in 1953 under the Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities, which has headquarters in Elkhart, Ind. They lived in Jerusalem for three years where they studied Hebrew and where Rev. Kreider was enrolled in the Hebrew University.

Along with their studies the Kreiders gave private lessons in Bible and participated in other Christian activities, mostly in Jerusalem.

The Kreiders moved to Ramat Gan, a suburb of Tel Aviv, in the fall of 1956 where the mission board had purchased a property. Through personal contacts with individuals they began a Christian witness. However, when refused a visa extension by the Israeli government, they left Israel on furlough in July, 1957, after the arrival of another couple, Rev. and Mrs. Paul Swarr.

Now living at a missionary rest home in Ventnor, New Jersey, the Kreiders are giving lectures on Israel and the Middle East in the United States and Canada. They have two sons, David and Jonathan. Rev. Willis Breckbill, pastor, invites the public to attend.

Tell your youngsters, when they are making caramels, that slowly adding the milk called for in the recipe will help to prevent the mixture from curdling.

IKE EXPECTED TO VETO FARM FREEZE BILL

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate today rushed to President Eisenhower a farm price support freeze bill which he is considered likely to veto.

The Senate completed congressional action by accepting a House amendment to limit its effect to 1953.

The Senate vote on that issue was 48-32. Previously the Senate had passed the measure without the limit 50-43. The House bill passed that branch 210-172.

The measure would prevent any reduction in price supports and acreage allotments below 1957 levels.

Ike Opposes Bill

Eisenhower and Secretary of Agriculture Benson both have expressed sharp opposition to it. The secretary has asked Congress for authority to lower supports on basic commodities to 60 per cent, as compared with the 75 per cent floor in present law.

Republican senators cried that Democrats were playing politics by rushing the bill through, in an effort to embarrass the President.

Neither the Senate vote on original passage nor the House vote was heavy enough to override a veto, which takes a two-thirds majority.

Democratic backers of the freeze contended they were giving the farm economy a half-billion-dollar shot in the arm, not playing politics.

STULTZ RITES HELD

Queen St., Littlestown, active lodge man and veteran of World War II, who died on Monday morning in the Warner Hospital, Gettysburg, following an illness of about a year, were conducted this afternoon at 2 o'clock from Little's Funeral Home, Littlestown. The Rev. David S. Kammerer, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Littlestown, officiated, assisted by the Rev. James E. Morecraft, Harrisburg. Interment was in Mt. Carmel Cemetery, Littlestown. Serving as pallbearers were Elmer G. Miller Sr., Clarence O. Bankert, Roger J. Keefe, Roy A. Stock, Warren C. Harner and Edward F. Hawk.

Bartley pleaded no contest to the charge which grew out of a fatal traffic crash in nearby Greencastle on Feb. 25. State police said Bartley drove through a red light at an intersection and struck a truck. J. Hoke Stouffer, 65, Greencastle, occupant of the truck, was killed.

ON THE HOUSE

By JOHN O. B. WALLACE
AP Newsfeatures

The science of electronics is creating miracles for the American home of today. But wait until you get a look at the electronic marvels for the home of tomorrow!

Washing machines without water — dirt is removed by ultrasonic energy.

A vacuum cleaner with a "brain" — it does its own work without human direction.

A luminescent wall — turn it on and the room is lighted.

A radiant heat canopy — pull it out from a bedroom wall and sleep comfortably, without covers, even in cold weather.

A television set no deeper than the thickness of a hefty thumb — hang it on the wall like a framed painting.

Sound fantastic? Well, they're all realities and in various stages of development by the designers and inventors who seek to make a better way of life for all of us by harnessing electrons to the service of man.

Timetable For New Items

All of the electronic items mentioned here are either now on the market or expected to be on the market within the next five or 10 years.

Here's a time table on these items and some others being developed:

The vacuum cleaner with a "brain" has been successfully demonstrated but manufacturers have not yet set the date for putting it on the market.

Engineers are still knocking out "bugs" on wall television but mid-gate television units, designed to serve as "baby sitters" or to permit the home owner to see who is at the front door, already are available.

The ultrasonic energy washer and dryer actually could be manufactured today, but the cost is too high for the average consumer. They're trying to cut its cost.

The radiant heat canopy has been successfully demonstrated but is not yet on the market.

Luminescent room lighting is now available. An electrified wall area is coated with a substance that lights up when the wall is "turned on."

Here are some other electronic wonders already being offered or planned for the near future:

A refrigerator without a motor and compressor. It will be a compact, flexible unit designed to fit the new "floating" conception of kitchen arrangements. It has been demonstrated successfully and is expected to be available soon.

An electronic stove, which can cook in only a few minutes, is available now.

Cut Air Pollution
Electronic garbage disposal units are available now. They dispose of combustible materials such as paper and wood, as well as waste food, electronically. Designers of this item point out that major use of such units would sharply reduce air pollution in congested city areas.

Electric heating cables are being designed for the homes of the future. Placed in the roof and eaves and under driveways, they would prevent the accumulation of snow and ice in the cold weather zones of the country.

Good Wiring Essential
In considering the bright, new world of electronics in the home of the future, there is an important item to be remembered: make sure your house is adequately wired. Adequate wiring not only will increase the value of your home and cut insurance costs, but it will permit you to make use of these enticing, electronic miracles.

An electrical contractor or your local utilities company can provide expert help in planning adequate wiring layouts and proper circuit specifications.

Want to know what it would cost to build that house for which you saw plans in the paper?

It's more complicated than just figuring the square or cubic footage, and multiplying by X dollars.

One system by which a layman can make estimates was figured out recently by Norman H. Hunt, editor of Builders Construction Manual, with the help of Architect Samuel Paul.

Here's how it works:

On Split Level House
First, multiply square footage of base construction area by $11.38. This area includes living room, dining room, kitchen, bedrooms and one bath. (Usually on two levels above ground level.)

Add $3.62 per square foot for recreation room or other rooms on ground level.

Add $900.00 for each extra bath of 40 square feet, plus $12.42 for each extra square foot over 40.

Add $1.55 per square foot for garage on ground level.

Add $388.00 for each extra lavatory of approximately 20 square feet. (Bath and water closet.)

Add 88 cents a square foot for the basement area including ground level area not finished.

Add $3.62 a square foot for covered porch.

Add $518.00 for recreation room fireplace.

On A Ranch House

Add $957.00 for single attached garage, or $1,450.00 for double garage of 440 square feet.

Add $518.00 for fireplace.

Other rates same as for split level.

On Story And Half House
First floor area at $13.90 per square foot.

Second floor at $6.21 per square foot.

Fireplace at $543.00.

Other rates same as for split level. Attached garage same as ranch.

On Two Story House
First floor at $10.61 per square foot.

Second floor at $8.80 per square foot.

Fireplace at $621.00.

Other rates same as split level. Attached garage same as ranch.

Jesus comes His hands will be stretched across racial barriers and people of all races who love Him will be drawn unto Him," she continued.

She expressed the hope that local barriers will come down and that "we can see people of my race clerking in stores and working in the hospital."

In her brief talk, Mrs. Rice spoke of the international scope and program of the YWCA and its local activities for women of all ages, its new emphasis on drawing men and boys into many of its activities and said: "This YWCA in Gettysburg has flourished for over 30 years as a result of the work of many consecrated women. If we are to make progress in the future and keep growing, we must give of ourselves, our time and our talents. Let us look forward with vision and sincere cooperation in the year ahead as we help to realize our purpose of Christian fellowship."

845 Meetings There

During the business session, Mrs. Fortenbaugh introduced three new members of the board of directors, Mrs. Reaser, Mrs. Mark A. Eckert and Mrs. Harold Eckert. She also presented Mrs. Leona Heim, the YWCA secretary, and her office secretary, Mrs. Mary Eubanks. Mrs. Edwin H. Johnson presented a treasurer's report and Mrs. Arthur Rice Jr. told of Y-Teen plans to go to a weekend conference at York. The 20 girls will take to York an invitation to hold the conference here next spring, she said.

The group directed that greetings be sent to Mrs. Albert Bachman, program committee chairman, who was prevented by illness from attending. Mrs. Heim's printed report for the year showed a total of 845 meetings of various sorts were held at the YWCA building in the last year with a total attendance of 10,725. She said 949 volunteers helped with programs there. She said more volunteer help is needed and announced April 20 as the opening of YWCA Week.

The benediction was given by the Rev. Mr. Fenstermaker.

DOGS

by Farley Manning

NEWSMEN TO PRESIDENT

Just as a banker thinks bankers can do things better, and lawyers think lawyers should sort out of run things, so newspapermen like to see other newspapermen in important jobs.

Which probably accounts for the enthusiasm with which we report that one of the top jobs in all the world of activities for and with dogs will be filled this year by a newspaperman—and incidentally a very good one.

The National Dog Welfare Guild, which is the sponsoring organization of National Dog Week, has just announced the election of Reginald Cleveland as president.

Retired now—as much as an active dog show judge, magazine columnist and author of books can be retired—Mr. Cleveland was for many years in top jobs with the New York Times. The Guild headquarters are in New York and Mr. Cleveland now lives in Vermont but he has announced that he will "commute" as necessary.

In addition to running National Dog Week the guild supplies information on laws affecting dogs and maintains a library of material on all phases of dog care and training. Letters come in from people in all parts of the country asking for help in solving problems with their pets, but only a few, we hope, are like the one they recently received from Kansas.

"I am disgusted," the man wrote, "with the way my dog drinks martinis. First he laps all the drink out of the glass. Then he starts nibbling at the edge. He eats the glass down half way, but leaves the stem."

"I have tried to break him of this but he is apparently a very dumb dog. Everyone knows the stem is the best part."

COLD WEATHER TIPS
During the winter season, dog owners should review some of the precautions they should be taking to safeguard their pets' health. It is not only the simple chills and colds caused by exposure which are a problem. Lowered resistance due to colds can also contribute to invasion by a number of those viruses and are so difficult to treat once they have gained a foothold.

Dogs should not be bathed frequently during the cold weather. Instead they should be brushed daily as a means of removing dirt, loose hair and offensive skin oils. If parts of the body (ears, paws, etc.) become muddled or dirtied, they may be sponged clean.

Healthy dogs need not be given clothing to protect them against the weather. Their coats of fur, which act as insulating material, permit them to move from one environment to another without risk, providing the change is not too drastic.

Some dogs will eat a little more in winter than in summer but no change of diet is necessary. If you use the best grades of commercial foods and if you want to encourage the dog to eat more just shift back and forth between meal and canned types. This will guarantee the dog a completely balanced diet — and give him a change to tempt his appetite.

Dogs should not be allowed too much time close to sources of heat, such as radiators and fireplaces. This will lower their resistance to cold when they have to meet it, and will also tend to dry out their coats.

But above all, give your dog plenty of exercise in the open air. Lack of exercise in winter time has weakened many dogs and made them easier prey to pneumonia and other diseases.

DALLASTOWN, Pa. (AP)—A 41-year-old janitor died today of injuries suffered when an auditorium collapsed in York County because of heavy snow on its roof and buried him under tons of debris.

NO FLOOD NOW
HARRISBURG (AP)—The federal-state flood forecasting service said today snow which fell during the last 24 hours will not present any immediate flooding problem in Pennsylvania.

Capitani And Warfel Gain Honorable Mentions In AP All-State College Selections

Frank Capitani and Del Warfel, Gettysburg College players, are among those given honorable mentions by the Associated Press for the 1958 All-State College Basketball selections announced.

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—All Americans Gup Rodgers of Temple and Don Hennon of Pitt head the 1958 All-Pennsylvania College Basketball team announced today by the Associated Press.

The two "little" men are the sole repeaters on a high scoring, tough rebounding club chosen for the AP by the state's sportswriters and sportscasters.

Ed Kazakovich, of Scranton, who had a 26.8 point per game scoring average and a 14.8 rebounding average; Bucknell's Hal Danzig, Wilbur Troesch of St. Francis and Jay Norman of Temple round out the six-man "quintet."

Troesch and Norman finished in a dead heat for the fifth spot, barely edging Bob Mantz of Lafayette.

Only Two Seniors
Only Rodgers and Norman are seniors. Troesch is a sophomore and the others are juniors, making the team one of the youngest in recent years.

The deeds of Rodgers and Hennon are well known. The Temple senior is regarded as the slickest floor man in college basketball since Bob Cousy played for Holy Cross. Besides being the floor general of the Owls and guiding them to the No. 3 national rating, he averaged 20.4 points per game and handed off an average of 5.2 assists per game. Although "only" six feet in height, he managed 6.7 rebounds a game.

Hennon is the outstanding example of a little man succeeding in a big man's game. He gained fame for his phenomenal shooting eye that accounted for a 25.96 per game scoring average in major competition and boosted Pitt into an NCAA tournament berth. The 5-8 1/2 junior from Wampum, Pa., has, like Rodgers, the assets of great speed and quick reflexes.

Rewrote School Records
Kazakovich, a 6-5 native Scrantonian, rewrote his school's record book this year and earned the plaudits of many who opposed him as "the best we've faced."

Danzig moved up from a third team berth on the 1957 All-Pennsylvania. Extremely agile for a big man, 6-6 and 225 pounds, the Rochester, N. Y., resident had a 17.8 scoring average and a 16.1 rebounding average in a successful Bucknell season.

Norman was regarded as second only to Rodgers in value to the Temple team. Giving away height to opponents all year, the 6-3 Philadelphia still managed a 12.2 rebounding average and scored at a 13 point clip. Opposing coaches termed him as one of the nation's most underrated players.

Troesch Led Franks
Troesch was one of the big reasons for St. Francis' successful season that led to a post season berth in the National Invitation Tournament. The 6-8 resident of Clairton, Pa., came along fast and by the season's end has a 16.6 scoring average and a 10 rebound per game average.

Mantz moved up from a 1957 third team berth to lead the second unit this year. The 6-7 resident of Reading averaged slightly better than 16 rebounds a game while hitting at a 19.2 point pace per game.

Filling out the second team are Jim McClellan of St. Francis, Joe Delise, who led the Indiana Teachers to a NAIA berth, Ron Rainey of Penn State and Keith Taylor of Susquehanna.

The third team was composed of Julius Pegues of Pitt; Clint Jeffries of Muhlenberg, Reggie Rife of Millersville State Teachers, Dick Cse-neitz of Penn and Bob McNeill of St. Joseph's promising sophomore team.

Honorable Mentions

SUGGESTS PHILS AND ATHLETICS CHANGE LEAGUES

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Del Webb, co-owner of the New York Yankees, suggested today that Kansas City of the American League and Philadelphia of the National League swap franchises in the interest of travel economy.

Under the Webb plan, which he said he would introduce at the next meeting of the major leagues Pittsburgh would be the eastern-most club in the National League and Chicago would be the western terminus of the American League.

Warren Giles, president of the National League, said "the idea doesn't appeal to me and I'm sure to none of the other National League owners" when told of the Webb proposal.

"It must be admitted," said Webb, "the present set-up of the National League is apt to prove rather unwieldy this year. That's a pretty long jump from Philadelphia to Los Angeles."

The New York and Brooklyn National League franchises were moved to San Francisco and Los Angeles, respectively, earlier this year.

Webb pointed out that Kansas City, which drew 901,069 paying fans last year with a club in or near the cellar all season, would be an ideal jumping off point for the clubs traveling to the coast. Philadelphia, in turn, could build up a rivalry with the New York Yankees, Philadelphia's attendance last year was 1,146,230.

The Kansas City Athletics were a fixture in Philadelphia for more than 50 years until moved to the Missouri city by Arnold Johnson three years ago.

Mayor Gets Thanks
NEW YORK (AP)—The Synagogue Council of America has voiced its gratitude to New York's Mayor Robert Wagner for his "earnest pledge" to seek measures to safeguard the right of Jews to keep businesses open on Sunday. Saturday is the Jewish Sabbath. Wagner is a Roman Catholic.

GIVING INCREASES
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Seventh-Day Adventists, who customarily give more to their church per person than any other Christians in this country, said the 1957 rate of per capita giving was $212.80, up $10.78 over the previous year's figure.

FARE DEAL FOR DOGS
In Seattle, Wash., dogs are legitimate patrons of the transit system. They even rate transfer privileges.

The transit system recognizes three varieties of dogs; blind persons' dogs, lap dogs and non-lap dogs.

A blind persons dog can ride coaches at any time unless some other dog gets on before he does. Only one dog for each coach—that's a firm rule. Blind persons' dogs are carried free of charge except during the rush hours; at that time they must pay full fare and are accorded transfer privileges.

Other dogs can ride during non-rush hours only. Lap dogs ride free, while bigger dogs pay full fare and can transfer. When asked to define a lap dog, the Seattle Kennel Club said it is a dog 20 pounds or less. The transit system went along with that definition.

Dogs are not allowed to sit on coach seats, even if they pay full fare. Lap dogs presumably can sit on laps. The transit system is explicit on that.

Cats are not mentioned in the document. Possibly this is because they weigh under 20 pounds and thus pay no fare. The transit system hauls quite a few cats. An unwritten rule is a cat and a dog cannot ride the same bus.

The rule book doesn't say a dog has to be accompanied by a human being. If a dog has the fare, there's no reason why he can't take a ride if he wants to.

GOES TO DETROIT
Detroit looks over Ron Rozman, the Sally's best pitcher with Augusta where he was 15-1 and tops in ERA with 1.64. He has learned how to pitch and has fine control, walking only 42 men in 159 innings.

CHOOSE LITTLE BASKETBALL ALL-AMERICA 5

BY TED MEIER
NEW YORK (AP)—Jimmie Daniels, a ball-hawking 5-11 whiz from Brooklyn who led South Dakota to the NCAA small college championship, dominates the 1958 Little Basketball All-America announced today by The Associated Press.

Joining the diminutive senior on the first team are 6-3 Dick Barnett, whose sensational shot shooting sparked Tennessee State at its second straight NAIA championship; 6-6 Jim Smith of Steubenville (Ohio); 6-4 Mel Peterson of Wheaton (Ill.) and 6-9 Bennie Swain of Texas Southern.

They were chosen on the basis of recommendations from sports writers and broadcasters throughout the country. Similar to the big All-America, announced several weeks ago, four are Negroes—Daniels, Barnett, Smith and Swain.

New England Men
Swain and Smith are seniors, Barnett a junior and Peterson a sophomore.

Players from New England schools dominated the second team composed of Rudy Finderson of Brandeis, Dick Kross of American International, Nick Nicodem of St. Michaels (Vt.), Ed Kazakovich of Scranton and Vern Baggenstoss of St. Cloud (Minn.) Teachers.

Bob Hamblin, who led little Chapman (Calif.) to an upset victory over Fresno State in the NCAA tourney; Bill McAdams, of Western Illinois; Charles Grote, of Georgetown (Ky.); Jim Bond of Pasadena and Al Pursell of Coe make up the 1958 third team.

Honorable mentions included Jim Davis, Kings (Pa.); Terry German, West Chester; Bill Soffa, Carnegie Tech; Jack Kalbfus, St. Vincent; Dave Rankin, Westminster; Joe Delise, Indiana; Ray Weaver, Dickinson; Hank Gretkowski, St. Michaels, (Vt.) and Keith Tyler, Susquehanna.

McCarthy Had 25
Xavier, which turned back Niagara and defending champion Bradley to reach the semis, had its lead reduced to three points early in the second half. But Stein got his team rolling again.

For a while it looked as though Dayton would have its hands full with St. John's. The Redmen led 39-38 in the fifth minute of the second half. But the Flyers forged in front behind the sharpshooting of Don Lane and Frank Case.

Jack McCarthy, Dayton's 6-6 center, was the game's high scorer with 25 points. Case had 23 and Lane 14.

Saturday's championship game will be nationally televised by CBS.

Phillies Are Desperate About First Base Spot; Joe Collins Sold But He Quits Baseball

By JOHN CHANDLER
The Associated Press
The first baseman problem with the Philadelphia Phillies remained desperate today when Joe Collins of the New York Yankees retired from baseball after being sold to the Quaker City club for the $20,000 waiver price.

"If I can't be a Yankee, I'm through with baseball," Collins, 35, said at St. Petersburg, Fla.

Philadelphia had sought a first sacker after Ed Bouchee, an outstanding 1957 rookie, became involved with the law. Bouchee is now taking psychiatric treatment.

Anderson In Outfield
But Dayton Coach Tom Blackburn is not very happy about the pairing.

The Flyers rode over St. John's of New York 80-56 and Xavier knocked off third-seeded St. Bonaventure 72-53 in last night's semifinals in Madison Square Garden.

Finals Tomorrow
The finals will be played tomorrow and will be preceded by a consolation game for third place between the Bonnies and St. John's.

Dayton advanced to the finals four times in its six previous NIT appearances and has yet to take home the championship. The Flyers were runners-up in 1951, 1952, 1955 and 1956.

"We would rather have played St. Bonaventure Saturday," said Blackburn. "We beat Xavier twice during the regular season and they're playing much better now than when we faced them." Dayton whipped the Musketeers 74-59 Jan. 19 and 4-58 Feb. 16.

Xavier's Hank Stein, 6-2 junior from Louisville, Ky., scored 27 points.

McCarthy Had 25

Youth - BY THE DRAWERFUL

In a nation as big as ours there is always a tendency to overlook the individual and to think only of groups. Youth gets the brunt of this generalizing.

About three percent of our boys and girls are delinquent. But some folks would have us believe that every child is a potential delinquent.

Time we realized that children aren't chicks! They don't grow up by the drawerful to have the same characteristics and habits.

Children respond to love, parental example, religious guidance. They possess an ever-increasing aptitude for responsibility, trust, and faith.

Most of our boys and girls will grow up to assume their rightful place in an orderly, Christian society. Some will populate our jails. But the destiny of the individual youth is not a matter of chance and percentage...

It is determined primarily by the conscientiousness of loving parents, and by the persistency with which his natural religious interests are cultivated.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

THE CHURCH AND WORLD EVANGELISM
Matthew 28:18-20; Acts 13:1-3;
Romans 1:14-18

Key Verse: Go therefore and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit, Matthew 28:19.

The Great Commission given by Christ to His disciples has often been called the "Charter of Foreign Missions" although it may be applied right here at home on our own doorstep to neighbors, friends, or business associates who are not baptized Christians. Naturally it is all-inclusive and provides authority for the Church to carry on a program of world evangelism.

When the term "missions" is mentioned, some people think immediately of work which is being done overseas; some believe it is no concern of theirs. Criticisms have been made of missionaries, too, for introducing Western ways of thinking and living. This may have occurred in some instances where missionaries had not been trained in the language and culture of the land in which they served. As Christians well know, our missionaries have been imbued with one aim — the desire to win converts to Christianity.

Christ had the authority to give this command and He has given it to us to carry out. Baptizing and teaching were indicated to show what evangelism means. Where a man is baptized a Christian wherever he may be, he accepts the Lordship of Christ and severs all ties with his former religion or his pagan worship. But new converts need constant encouragement and training as they grow in Christian faith. Christ's promise, "and lo, I am with you always, to the close of the age," gives assurance to all disciples — old and new.

In the passage of Matthew 28:18 it is important to note that the reassuring word "all" appears four times: "all" authority, "all" nations, "all" that He has commanded, and "always." This has provided strength and hope for countless missionaries as they have left their homes to work in faraway places. We remember how Saul and Barnabas were called by the Holy Spirit from the church at Antioch to go out, preach, and baptize, and how after fasting and praying, they started on their first missionary journey. This was the beginning of world evangelism.

Felt Responsibility
Paul felt his responsibility very keenly. "I am under obligation both to Greeks and to barbarians, both to the wise and to the foolish he wrote to the Romans. The Greek scholar, the slave, the dockworker at Corinth, the silversmith of Ephesus, the pagan of Europe: all became his particular task. And he was never ashamed to preach Christ's Gospel — in Athens or Caesarea, in Philippi or Rome. The good tidings (Gospel) meant "God's spell" or "God's tidings" and every Christian should be the proud bearer of the good news.

The obligation to witness is not meant for preachers and missionaries alone but for every professing Christian. Loyalty to Jesus Christ demands our love, our gifts, our united effort to spread His Gospel of salvation. The world mission of the Church begun by Paul and his helpers inspired the modern missionary movement and the names of Carey, Livingstone, Damien, Xavier, Hoyer, Ida Scudder, and Anna Kugler challenge us to greater consecration to the missionary task.

When the International Missionary Council met in Jerusalem a quarter of a century ago, a statement on world evangelism was adopted. Here is a paragraph all conscientious Christians should absorb: "We believe that men are made for Christ and cannot really live apart from Him. Our fathers were impressed with the horror that men should die without Christ — we share that horror; we are impressed also with the horror that men should live without Christ. Christ is our motive and Christ is our end. We must give nothing less, and we can give nothing more."

Bus Driver Hustles On Crossing Stall

SYOSSET, N.Y. (AP)—School bus driver Albert Witte worked fast yesterday when his vehicle stalled on a crossing minutes before a Long Island Railroad train was due.

It was snowing when the bus stalled on the tracks. Witte, of Bayville, N. Y., immediately opened the front door and emergency exit and shouted "Outside." He literally threw some of the slower moving students out of the bus.

As he herded the youngsters to safety, a New York-bound train came along. The engineer applied the brakes and the train slowed enough to just nudge the bus, which was driven away later.

Notes From A DOCTOR'S Notebook

By DOROTHY V. WHIPPLE, M.D.

Mary has finished the first grade. That is, Mary has spent a year in the first grade classroom but Mary is not very well grounded in the elementary skills which are supposed to be learned in that all-important first year of school.

The big question is: should Mary go on to second grade with the hope that she will catch up or should she plan to repeat the first grade?

The first year of school is an extremely important one. The youngster who has not learned the basic skills of reading and number work will very likely have continuing trouble throughout his school career. It is very seldom that he catches up, it is likely that he will continue to fall further behind and before long come to dislike school and want to drop out.

Is Too Young
Mary's sixth birthday had been in early October. She was just barely old enough to be admitted to first grade according to the law. But Mary was a small youngster and more immature than most of the other first graders. She never quite knew what was going on in the class. As it turned out it would have been better for Mary if she had not been allowed to enter first grade last year.

Now she is older and more grown up. She is plenty bright. For Mary, the wise choice is to have her repeat first grade. If she does she will get a good grounding in the basic skills. She will become one of the good readers in her class instead of being in the lowest reading group.

Not only will Mary get a better start on her academic education if she repeats first grade but she will also be a happier better adjusted person all her life.

Hard On Child To Be Last
It's hard on a child to be one of the worst in a group. She gets the feeling she is a failure and that it's not worth trying to do better because it's no use. The truth is if Mary is pushed on to second grade this fall she won't be able to compete with the children who have learned a lot more than she did in the first grade. She will be a failure.

On the other hand if she repeats first grade she will feel good because she will be able to do the work she will want to push ahead and do more and more. She will have the feeling of success.

Harder On Parents
Keeping a child back is often harder for the parents to accept than for the child. Often parents feel that if a child of theirs repeats a grade they must accept the fact that their child is stupid.

With Mary and with many other children this isn't the case at all. Mary is not stupid, she was just too young and immature for first grade last year.

First grade is about the easiest of all grades to repeat. The child will have no sense of failure about not going forward with her class unless the parents make a big issue of it.

Take a careful look at your youngster. If there are any doubts in your mind about his qualifications for second grade talk it over with the school. Be sure to decide the matter on the basis of the child's welfare, not on your pride.

Camera News

By EMIL REYNOLDS
AP Newsfeatures

With the advent of the new high speed films, photography appears to have come about in a full circle since the days when Mathew Brady recorded Civil War action with his portable laboratories. Photography, and particularly news photography, was given a great impetus when flash powder was introduced as an adjunct to camera lighting. Next, flash bulbs and synchronized shutters were developed. In recent years, however, photographers have rediscovered the enormous advantages of shooting pictures with natural light. Or available light, as it is termed by the purists.

Defeats Naturalness

Many photographers find the extraneous and sometimes harsh shadows cast by the flash bulb to be quite objectionable particularly when the flash is directed fully upon the subject. They claim this method defeats the naturalness they strive for in a picture. The film companies have devoted much time and research to advancing the speeds of their emulsions and now, with the release for public consumption of such films as Eastman Kodak's Royal X, we seem to have approached an era when bulbs will, in many cases, be considered superfluous.

When the photographer wishes to use the slower speed films for purposes of avoiding graininess, the next best thing to available light is the bounce-light technique. Bounce-light means using a synchronized bulb without aiming it at the subject. It is held off the camera at right angles to it and directed upward to the ceiling, thereby distributing or bouncing the light evenly and giving the picture the illusion of light. Bounce-light is a simple technique though it has some limitations. Its use is not recommended with ceilings higher than, say, 12 feet. An eight or ten-foot ceiling is ideal. In traveling to the ceiling and back too much light is dissipated if the ceiling is very high. Also, if the walls are far apart there will be added dissipation of light. Modern homes are just right for bounce-light photography. The customary exposures for use in your living room are f:11 at a 25th. This exposure is considered effective if the walls and ceiling are of a reasonably light color.

Work With Tripod

In shooting indoor pictures without supplementary light, it is usually best to work with a tripod since long exposures are generally necessary along with stopped-down diaphragms. And this method is certainly an easy one, once you have mastered the fundamentals. Since the day that Louis Daguerre invented the photographic process, there have been no really basic changes made in it. The camera lens still functions on the optic principle. When you are starting in the direction of the sun you involuntarily squint your eyes and, when you find yourself in the dark, your eye pupil enlarges. The lens functions exactly the same. Keeping this principle in mind, natural light photography will provide you with highly dramatic effects and interesting results. A few experiments in your home and careful attention to the working instructions that come with the film will teach you the correct exposures to use.

The POWER of FAITH

by Howard Brodie

BETHPAGE, JORDAN.—A kindly Arab farmer loaned me his donkey to ride from the point where Christ began his Palm Sunday entry into Jerusalem.

The crisp, clear air was filled with bird calls. Clouds streaked the soft blue sky. The road gradually climbed to the Mt. of Olives. I passed a shepherd grazing his sheep.

Then the crest! With its sweeping view of the old walled city across the valley of Jehoshaphat. Pigeons arched in the sky.

The Roman road down was steep, so steep that it was terraced into giant, white rocky steps spotted with green moss. The little donkey felt for his footing. A cat peered at us. Pine, cypress, olive and orange trees dotted the slopes. There was the whir of wings as birds took flight. High ahead of us was the golden gate.

Here the multitudes had gathered to see Him and to shout: "Hosanna; Blessed is He that cometh in the name of the Lord!" (Mark 11:9)

The 60 h brown and green shows a family watching a TV program in their living room.

Two new stamps have been issued by West Germany. One stamp commemorates the 100th anniversary of the death of poet Baron N. Y.

Recommend $177,255,000 To Erect 66 Public Buildings

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Appropriations Committee today cut off funds for the lease-purchase program. But it recommended $177,255,000 in new cash to finance construction of 66 public buildings in the program.

The committee said the direct appropriation procedure will save money. It ordered that hereafter the lease-purchase method be used only for constructing post offices.

As an antirecession measure, the committee approved 75 million dollars to accelerate repair and improvement of government buildings.

Boost Ike Request
The committee's action was in connection with approval of a $6,549,920,900 bill to finance independent federal agencies for the fiscal year starting July 1. This is $627,577,400 more than President Eisenhower requested and $1,159,988,100 more than Congress gave the same agencies this year.

In a sharply worded explanation of its lease-purchase action, the committee criticized Franklin G. Floete, the general services administrator, and Maurice H. Stans, who recently became director of the Budget Bureau.

It said it asked Floete not to bind the government on any more lease-purchase contracts until further notice. But, the committee added, he "ignored the request and within the last two weeks has signed two lease-purchase contracts and advises the committee that he intends to sign 26 others."

Ignored Request
The committee said Stans ignored a request not to require

GSA to enter into any commitments for lease-purchase contracts until Congress could decide whether the buildings should be constructed under direct appropriations.

Stans contended "lease-purchase was an administration policy," the committee said, adding that his action "was arbitrary and clearly showed no respect for the congressional request."

The lease-purchase law, enacted in 1954, provided for private construction of public buildings such as courthouses, with the government eventually obtaining ownership through annual rental payments. Congress refused last year to renew the law and the committee noted that only one public building has been constructed under the program since the law was enacted.

Save $171 Million
The 66 buildings for which the committee recommended direct appropriations had been approved for construction under that law.

Through the direct appropriations procedure, the committee said, the government will save about 171 million dollars on the 66 projects. It said a General Accounting Office survey indicated it costs at least $1.64 under lease-purchase to buy the same amount of building that can be obtained for $1 in direct appropriations.

The committee's action is subject to approval by the House next week.

Largest money allotment in the bill was $4,932,210,000 for the Veterans Administration. This is $35,342,000 less than Eisenhower asked.

Two College Profs Convinced High School Students Can Master Advanced Math

EDITOR'S NOTE: America needs more scientists, engineers and mathematicians. If math is just "a frightening buzz" to school children, this need will not be met. Here is a first-hand report on a group of educators who might have a solution.

By HERMAN R. ALLEN
AP Newsfeatures Writer
URBANA, Ill. (AP) — What does this sentence mean?

Mary has four letters. It could mean that a girl has four pieces of mail, or that she has won four letters in athletics. Does it mean that there are four letters in her name?

No. For that meaning you'd have to write: "Mary" has four letters.

Now meet Prof. Max Beberman, a big man with close cropped brown hair and a passion for mathematics (and hamburgers).

And meet Prof. David Page, an earnest, greying young man who shares Beberman's unshakable confidence that high school kids can meet and master even some advanced forms of college math if you give them half a chance.

Director For Math Improvement

Beberman is director of the much-watched University of Illinois Project for the Improvement of School Mathematics. Page is project editor.

What do Mary and her four letters have to do with mathematics?

The two men are convinced that one reason many kids find mathematics so formidable is this: As math is taught in most schools today, students don't know what the teacher is talking about — and the teacher may not either. One of the things they want to do is to "clean up the language of mathematics."

They use the case of Mary as a starting point to show what they mean.

Not Always Easy
"If you say 'Mary' has four letters," says Beberman, "meaning that the word has four letters, you're confusing the girl Mary with her name."

"The distinction is fairly easy to see in everyday language, but in mathematics it's not always so easy."

He reaches for a big pad of paper.

On it he writes 3 and 2 like this:

"Which is larger," he asks, "two or three?"

"Three," you reply.

Beberman grins.

"You're too grown up," he says. "But you'd be surprised how often in the classroom a child will say 'the two.'"

"He's confusing the numbers two and three with the numerals 2 and 3. Numerals are not numbers; they're names of numbers."

Simple enough so far, but what does it lead to?

A bell rings and you soon find out.

You leave the converted bungalow that houses the mathematics project office and stroll next door to University High School, where Beberman is trying out the project method on a class of seventh graders.

On the blackboard Beberman draws:

$$5 + \square = 6$$

"What would I have to write in this box to make this statement true?" he asks.

"One," comes the prompt reply. Now Beberman erases into the point.

"It's a lot of trouble to draw a box," he says. "Most mathematicians use some handier symbol like — oh, like X."

He writes the expression using an X instead of the box.

"But suppose I had written '4 plus X equals 6.' What numeral would X hold a place for then to make a true statement?"

Catch On Instantly

They get it instantly, and the "X-fright" so many children bring with them to algebra is forgotten.

Beberman is resolutely opposed to watered-down mathematics and to "apple-tree algebra" (which says 6A is like 6 apples.)

"Mathematics can be interesting without being watered down," he says. "In fact, watered-down mathematics cannot be interesting. It is a time waster for both the talented student and the less able student."

Three or four minutes of class time remained after Beberman had finished his explanation of variables (a term, incidentally, he studiously avoided). In my day we would have sat there and fidgeted, eager to shake off the irksome straitjacket that mathematics was 30 years ago.

Kids Want More

But these kids are in no hurry. To them math is, as Beberman says it should be, "a delightful experience."

A little girl's hand shoots into the air and she asks to play "I'm thinking of a number."

Again, in my day, if we played it at all, "I'm thinking of a number" would have been a fairly boring procedure — something like "2 plus 10 times 4, divided by 6, what is it?"

Not here. Beberman reels off, for these seventh graders:

"Negative 6, times negative 4, plus the square of 12, plus the absolute of negative 40, divided by negative 5 . . ."

Hands in the air again. Most of their owners have the answer.

"Let's do it again, Mr. Beberman! Let's do it again."

But the bell rings. Reluctantly, if you can believe it, the children fold up their notebooks and troop out.

Author Tries Problem

We return to the bungalow office for lunch (hamburgers) with Page and Miss Gertrude Hendrix, teacher coordinator for the project.

Lunch over, Beberman asks: "By the way, how are you in mathematics?"

"I fell off the sled," I tell him, truthfully, "when I hit long division in the fourth grade."

"Well," says Beberman, "let's see."

He pulls his big pad toward him again, tries me on a few warm-up problems, then announces:

"Within 10 minutes I can have you doing a problem that many students of sophomore calculus have trouble with."

I sweat during the next 10 minutes but in the end Beberman writes something that I couldn't even have read before lunch:

$$3 < |y+1| < 8$$

It translates: "Three is less than the absolute of Y plus one, which is less than eight."

"And what values of Y," Beberman asks, "make this true?"

Without much trouble, although it's too involved to go into here, I am able to tell him that the statement becomes true when Y is replaced by a numeral for any number between (but not including) two and seven or between minus four and minus nine.

Everything Simplified

Why have I understood it? Because Beberman has explained everything in simple terms and made sure I understood what job the letter Y performed. Chances are you could have done as well — or better if you're any good at arithmetic.

Does this kind of math instruction pay off?

Educational foundations are pretty hard headed, and one of them, the Carnegie Corp., after watching the Illinois project since 1951, decided last year that it does.

It put $277,000 into the project because it believes the method "will produce more students interested in mathematics, and better mathematicians among those who go to college."

Four other schools in Illinois are using it, and one in Missouri. Two Massachusetts schools and two more in Illinois are to join them next fall. Beberman says some California schools want to come in and that the Portland, Ore., system has expressed interest. Thirty-five teachers from various school systems signed up for a conference here next summer. The training, or retraining, of teachers is a vital part of the Illinois project.

What do students think?

"The most fun I ever had in school," said a boy at Principia Upper School, a private institution in St. Louis — "and I've learned more this year than in the last eight years of mathematics."

35 Million Expected To Attend Fair In Brussels

By EDDIE GILMORE

BRUSSELS (AP) — From a sea of mud here an exciting dream of the future and a stirring record of the past is steadily taking shape as the World Fair of 1958.

Despite rains, cold and snow, the Belgian backers of this extravaganza of the atomic age say its going to be opened as advertised on April 17 by King Baudouin.

It will continue until Oct. 19 and is expected to attract an estimated 35 million visitors.

Fifty countries, eight international organizations and various institutions of the five continents have united to exhibit the material and cultural accomplishments of 2,000 years of civilization.

Americans Vs. Reds

But dwarfing all else for Americans is a side show — major bids by the United States and Communist Russia to dramatically display to the world the fruits of their conflicting ways of life.

While the giants of East and West gird for this competition the battle by all nations taking part in this first world fair since the great exhibition in New York in 1939 is against the twin enemies of time and mud.

Mud is everywhere, but it will soon be displaced by winding concrete roads lined by emerald colored grass, flowers, shrubs and a network of leafy lanes.

"If you tried to see this entire fair by foot — I mean thoroughly," said pretty Belgian hostess Ruth Gruft, "you'd spend a week at it."

Great Centerpiece

The most bizarre structure of the entire fair is the great centerpiece of the exhibition, the towering Atomium at the main gate.

Representing the nine atoms in a steel crystal — enlarged 150 billion times — it looms above everything, and show "The Glass Menagerie."

The United States will present the Philadelphia Orchestra with Eugene Ormandy and Isaac Stern as soloists.

Motorcycle weekend starts Saturday, March 22, 1958, at Martz Cycle Co., 33 Main Street, McSherrystown, Pa. Here's your chance to see the brilliant new 1958 models.

Program includes sport and racing movies, free eats and refreshments, souvenirs, door prizes. New motorcycles on display.

Be sure and come to our free party, every one invited. Have a chat with your friendly dealer and salesmen.

Utilities Are Hardest Hit By Devastating Snowstorm

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A slowly-moving storm which never seemed to end left a paralyzing 36 inches of snow in parts of southeastern Pennsylvania today and lingered over the north-eastern part of the state.

The biggest damage was to power lines and poles pulled down by the wet, soggy snow, leaving thousands without heat, electricity and telephone service.

A Pennsylvania Power & Light Co. spokesman described the situation as the worst in company history. Lighting companies in neighboring New York and Ohio sent "rescue mission" teams.

The poles and trees came down across railroad tracks, disrupting commuter service into Philadelphia.

Main line service also was tied up, but railroad spokesman said train schedules were returning slowly to normal.

Hundreds were stranded on highways, and the Pennsylvania Turnpike was closed for 111 miles from Harrisburg to the New Jersey state line.

At least six deaths were attributed to the storm. Two persons were electrocuted by dangling live wires.

In Philadelphia, Lancaster and a score of other communities emergency care centers were set up for families lacking heat and food. Civil defense units were active virtually everywhere.

Many Without Heat

Some communities declared emergencies and schools and colleges were closed. Many schools and churches were used to care for those without heat in their homes.

An estimated 800 made their way to the small Brandywine restaurant on the turnpike in the Pennsylvania Dutch country near Reading and waited more than 20 hours for rescue crews to reach them.

Observers Surprised

Harrisburg the state capital in southeastern Pennsylvania had up to 30 inches. Further west the snowstorm caught veteran snowfall was lighter, but mountain sections received up to 12 inches. The storm was expected to taper off during the day turning to flurries over most of the state. U. S. weather observers by surprise with the severity with which it flashed inland from the ocean and whipped across the Eastern seaboard, inflicted hardship as far west as Harrisburg.

Almost everywhere in the up-state area the story was the same—no heat, no electricity, no telephones.

Autos were abandoned in streets. People walked, hitched rides or rode delayed public transportation to their jobs and homes.

Pennsylvania and Reading Railroad trains moved in some areas. In others, where power lines were broken by the soggy snow, service was on an emergency basis—if it moved at all.

"Worst Emergency"

Falling trees and branches felled by the sheer weight of the snow snapped telephone and power wires.

In Lancaster County, more than 80 per cent of the customers of the Pennsylvania Power & Light Co. were without electricity. The utility, which serves a 28-county area, said the storm created the worst emergency in its history.

An estimated 80 to 90 per cent of homes in Berks County were darkened, affecting some 150,000 persons.

In York County, where the storm deposited up to 30 inches of snow, an estimated 20,000 homes were without electricity. They are served by the Metropolitan Edison Co.

The P. P. & L. reported from Bethlehem that the Lehigh Valley area was in bad shape power-wise. 15,000 Homes Affected

Steelton, Highspire, Hummelstown, West Shore, Millersburg, Newport and Colonial Park plus all areas east of Harrisburg were in "rough shape"—with a good portion of these communities minus heat and light.

Two other Harrisburg suburban areas, Middletown and Susquehanna Twp., declared emergencies. Between 3,000 and 4,000 homes in Middletown alone—a community of 9,200 residents—were without power.

Washington Whispers

By Jane Eads

WASHINGTON (AP) — Like many other diplomatic and official families who have returned from public life, Norway's veteran ambassador Wilhelm Munthe de Morgenstierne and his wife have adopted Washington as their permanent address.

The respected and popular dean of the diplomatic corps and the charming Canadian-born Mrs. de Morgenstierne were feted up and down Embassy Row, and by official and social Washington at a raft of "farewell" parties before moving to a two-bedroom apartment here.

De Morgenstierne, ambassador for 23 years, first came to this country some 47 years ago. He recalls the early days before Norway had an embassy here, when he served as an assistant to the mission chief. He used to ride a bicycle to work. Once he walked to Baltimore to pay off a bet. In 1925 he married the tall, blue-eyed Marjorie Elizabeth Alder of Winnepeg and in 1929 he was appointed consul general in New York.

Had Little Furniture
"When we moved to the embassy in 1934 there was barely a stick of furniture in the place," Marjorie de Morgenstierne told me — "only a carved Norwegian cupboard and a small oil painting. We moved the family furniture from New York and filled out the gaps with things I bought at auctions."

Only a few of these pieces will be taken to furnish the apartment. The rest the Norwegian government purchased as permanent embassy fixtures, much to the relief of the new envoy, Paul Gruda Koht, 44, who comes from Copenhagen, Denmark, where he's been serving as Norwegian charge d'affaires.

During her tenure as chatelaine, Mrs. de Morgenstierne kept the embassy as truly a part of her adopted country as if it had been in the heart of Oslo. The family conversed in Norwegian. All the servants were Norwegian. Norwegian dishes comprised the daily as well as party fare, and Norwegian customs were observed meticulously.

Top-ranking Couple
As the capital's top-ranking diplomatic couple, the de Morgenstiernes' presence at all diplomatic and official functions was a must. They were obliged to dine out at least three nights a week and sometimes twice in one evening.

"I adore parties, but I love being a hostess more than being a guest," the envoy's wife said. Most of her dinner parties were small, but a grand and colorful buffet and reception was given annually for the vice president or secretary of state.

WASHINGTON (AP) — It will be a busy year for wives of the nation's lawmakers, full of anniversary whoopla marking the 50th birthday of their own unique Congressional Club, friendly gathering place and center of many diverse activities.

The club, a non-partisan organization made up of wives of members of Congress from all parts of the country, will launch its gala "golden year" with its annual January reception for newcomers to Capitol Hill.

This is always a happy clam-bake, as cozy as an old-fashioned homecoming with oldtimers warming up the handshakes, the back-slapping and vacation anecdotes for each other.

Mrs. John Williams, wife of the Republican senator from Delaware and president of the club, said plans for the half-century birthday celebration were begun early last spring and include a "Golden Anniversary Breakfast" with Mamie Eisenhower as honor guest; a "50 years ago" exhibit, and a special founders' day luncheon. Even the club's money-making cookbook and its program director of civil defense, estimated that up to 15,000 homes in the county were without electric power.

The Dallastown Memorial Auditorium Gymnasium collapsed yesterday under the weight of snow. The collapse trapped the janitor, Lloyd W. Behrens, 41, under debris from the roof and two walls of the brick and cinderblock building. He had been standing in an alley beside the structure.

The Story Of Jean Lafitte

How much do you know about Jean Lafitte, the pirate and patriot of bygone days?

Where did he come from and where did he go after he helped win the battle of New Orleans?

The unique story of this colorful and romantic buccaneer will be told in The Gettysburg Times in four installments beginning next Monday, March 24.

Attorney Leighton C. Taylor, of Bendersville, at the request of The Times, has written a thrilling story of this colorful character. He has unearthed little known facts about the life of this exceptional man who came into New Orleans from no one knows where, played an important part in the stirring events of those earlier years and then, just as suddenly, disappeared.

Look for the first installment next Monday and then follow through with the next three articles. They are most interesting.

wegian customs were observed meticulously.

Top-ranking Couple

As the capital's top-ranking diplomatic couple, the de Morgenstiernes' presence at all diplomatic and official functions was a must. They were obliged to dine out at least three nights a week and sometimes twice in one evening.

"I adore parties, but I love being a hostess more than being a guest," the envoy's wife said. Most of her dinner parties were small, but a grand and colorful buffet and reception was given annually for the vice president or secretary of state.

WASHINGTON (AP) — It will be a busy year for wives of the nation's lawmakers, full of anniversary whoopla marking the 50th birthday of their own unique Congressional Club, friendly gathering place and center of many diverse activities.

The club, a non-partisan organization made up of wives of members of Congress from all parts of the country, will launch its gala "golden year" with its annual January reception for newcomers to Capitol Hill.

This is always a happy clam-bake, as cozy as an old-fashioned homecoming with oldtimers warming up the handshakes, the back-slapping and vacation anecdotes for each other.

Mrs. John Williams, wife of the Republican senator from Delaware and president of the club, said plans for the half-century birthday celebration were begun early last spring and include a "Golden Anniversary Breakfast" with Mamie Eisenhower as honor guest; a "50 years ago" exhibit, and a special founders' day luncheon. Even the club's money-making cookbook and its program booklet will observe the occasion with new golden covers.

Now Air Conditioned

Through all the fancy goings-on, members are assuring themselves they'll "keep cool." As a birthday present they had their handsome headquarters completely air-conditioned.

"We'd be able to stay open longer in the season," explained the first vice president, Mrs. Wilbur D. Mills, wife of the Democratic congressman from Arkansas and member of the club for the past eight years. "We used to close up in June."

Through the years the Congressional Club has been the principal gathering place in the capital, not only for wives, but for all members of the family, including the lawmakers themselves. Informal Sunday afternoon receptions, buffet suppers, and square dances have afforded husbands and wives an opportunity to get better acquainted with their colleagues. Teen-age dances and parties for the younger children have helped dispel some of the loneliness political sons and daughters feel when uprooted from the homebase to come here.

For the wives, something of interest is scheduled for almost every day — Friday programs with tea, Red Cross workshops, bridge and special classes in such things as public speaking and protocol.

CALLS STATE OF EMERGENCY

HARRISBURG (AP)—Gov. Leader today proclaimed a state of "extreme emergency" in snow-stricken areas of eastern Pennsylvania.

The action opened the way for municipalities and state agencies to meet snowstorm-created problems of clearing highways and restoring public utilities "without regard to time-consuming procedures and formalities" fixed by law.

Under the proclamation, for example, communities may hire private trucks and snowplows and purchase emergency supplies without taking bids.

The governor issued the proclamation under the 1951 civil defense law. It was based on what he termed "highway blockages and power and communications failures occasioned by long-continued, unusually heavy snows."

Leader said the situation was causing "hardship and suffering to the storm-stricken areas" of eastern Pennsylvania.

As originally written, Verdi's "The Masked Ball" was an opera concerning the assassination of a king. But, as played mostly in these times, it has to do with murder of the "Governor of Boston."

PRESIDENT CANCELS FLIGHT TO WEST POINT

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower cancelled his scheduled flight to West Point today because of stormy weather.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, announced the cancellation.

The President had planned to go to West Point to take part in Founders' Day ceremonies and to join in honoring an atomic scientist.

Hagerty said the trip was shelved because of generally bad weather both in Washington and in the West Point area, on the ground and in the air.

The schedule had called for Eisenhower to travel by automobile from Stewart Air Force Base to the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, a distance of about 17 miles.

Will Phone Talk
Plans were made to telephone Eisenhower's scheduled brief talk to a luncheon meeting at the academy.

His schedule had called for presentation of the first Sylvanus Thayer award to atomic scientist Ernest O. Lawrence for outstanding service to the nation. The occasion was the 156th anniversary of the academy's founding.

At West Point, it was said that Gen. Willis D. Crittenden, Ret., president of the Assn. of Graduates, would make the presentation in place of the President.

OUSTED GITTINS ACCEPTED GIFTS

By LEONARD A. UNGER
HARRISBURG (AP)—Health Secretary C. L. Wilbar Jr. said today a "conflict of interest" directive was invoked in the recent resignation of J. W. Gittins from his $7,748-a-year post as secretary of the Sanitary Water Board.

Dr. Wilbar said Gittins accepted $1,400 in loans over a five-year period from mine operators with cases pending before the board. None of the loans was repaid nor any interest paid on them he added.

Gittins, 51, a Camp Hill resident who votes from Kingston in Luzerne County, told a newsmen he accepted cash gifts and fruit from mine operators but would

U. S. MIRED IN SATELLITE RACE

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The United States is hog-tied in the satellite race because it is trying to produce an elaborate space vehicle too soon, says Dr. Werner von Braun.

This country's leading missile expert last night criticized the "idolized weapons system concept" — the idea of integrating the vehicle, its armament, navigational aids and supporting ground equipment before it is launched.

"Did the Wright brothers operate under the weapons system concept?" Von Braun asked in addressing the Western Space Age Conference.

"Let's get a good, big rocket engine adequate to power a manned orbital rocket, even if the latter does not qualify as an integrated weapons system but is nothing but a glorified test bed," he said.

Von Braun said he'd rather see a less-than-perfect manned satellite in three years than a perfect one in five — when the "Russians have again beaten us to the punch."

Camera News

By EMIL REYNOLDS
AP Newsfeatures

When taking pictures next summer it will be well worth the effort to make your pictures sparkle and reflect the care you have put into your endeavors. Using flash a fill-in in the bright summer sun will soften the dark shadows around the eyes and neck caused by the glaring sun overhead. In shooting color, flash fill-in — using blue bulbs — eliminates black shadows in the foreground and one the face.

Synchro-flash or fill-flash is the art of combining daylight with the light from a flash bulb. Using this technique, it is possible to face your subjects away from the so that they won't have to squint and so that they look natural. With the flash bulb filling in the dark areas and doing away with the harsh shadows, the backlighting provided by the sun can give the picture a three dimensional quality.

Method Same For Color
This method is used effectively with both black and white and color. It is perfectly simple so that anyone with any make camera and type of film can use fill-flash successfully.

When using fill-flash, the first rule to follow is to set your camera shutter and lens opening exactly as if you were going to shoot the picture without flash. Then without changing these settings, figure your flash.

Look up the guide number as recommended by the flash bulb manufacturer that applies to the bulb and film you are using. Divide this guide number by the f. setting (diaphragm opening) you are using. The result will be the correct distance in feet that the flash bulb should be from the subject.

Based On Daylight
For example, suppose that you are using an outdoor color film with an ASA rating of 32, your shutter speed at 1/100 of a second and your lens opening of f:8. This is all based on daylight shooting without consideration of a flash.

Now, if you are using a GE No. 5B flash bulb in a polished reflector, you will find that with this speed your guide number would be No. 85. If you divided this guide number No. 85 by the lens opening of f:8, you find that the proper distance for the flash bulb is slightly under 11 feet from the subject. Thus, with flash held at 11 feet from the subject, the light will fill in all the shadows and balance with the daylight.

Can Control Light
However, in actual practice, this even foot figure is only an approximation. Actually, you will find that you can hold the flash anywhere from seven to 15 feet and the flash will do a perfect job. Therefore, unless you are quite close to the subject (where the flash will overpower the daylight) or very far from the subject (where the flash will lose its effectiveness) you can use the flash to make any outdoor picture a better one.

Of course, many of the professionals control the intensity of the ture frame view. One of the newest transparency illuminators can stand as an easel or hang like a frame. Die-cut mats are available so that up to 43 openings can be punched out to frame 35 mm. transparencies. Other die-cut mats are designed for groups of 2 1/4 inch square or 4 x 5 inch transparencies. It's surprising how interesting your color transparencies look when displayed with this exhibition-like touch.

A flower in bloom is a thing of beauty but, alas, not a joy forever. As the flower fades, beauty disappears. For a more permanent record of the color and beauty of flowers, many people are turning to photography.

Floral photography can be practical as well as artistic. A friend, whose wife is an avid gardener, does his share of the work by shooting the garden in bloom with Kodachrome film from several different angles. His color prints clearly show, for instance, the color arrangement of the chrysanthemums and are used as reference when it is time to cut the green stalks back or rearrange the color scheme for the following season.

The color prints also take the guesswork out of identifying the location and color in connection with digging up bulbs for winter storage. In these cases, Kodachrome prints are a handier reference aids than color slides, although the latter can be used for the same purpose.

Extra Equipment Necessary
Photographing flowers for their artistic beauty is generally a matter of shooting close-ups, both in black-and-white and in color. Even cameras which focus down to 2 1/2 or 3 feet away can not fill up the entire picture area with a single small blossom so accessory equipment is necessary. Cameras with interchangeable lenses can generally use extension tubes for extreme close-up focusing. Since these are either reflex cameras or have ground-glass backs, you can study the composition and see the area of sharpness.

All cameras can take closeup attachments which slip over all lenses and permit shooting at certain specific distances. One brings objects in focus when 40 inches away; a second brings it to 20 inches and a third is used at 13 inches. In addition, these portable lenses can be combined for even closer shooting. For instance, a No. 2 and a No. 3 lens together bring the focus area 8 inches from the lens.

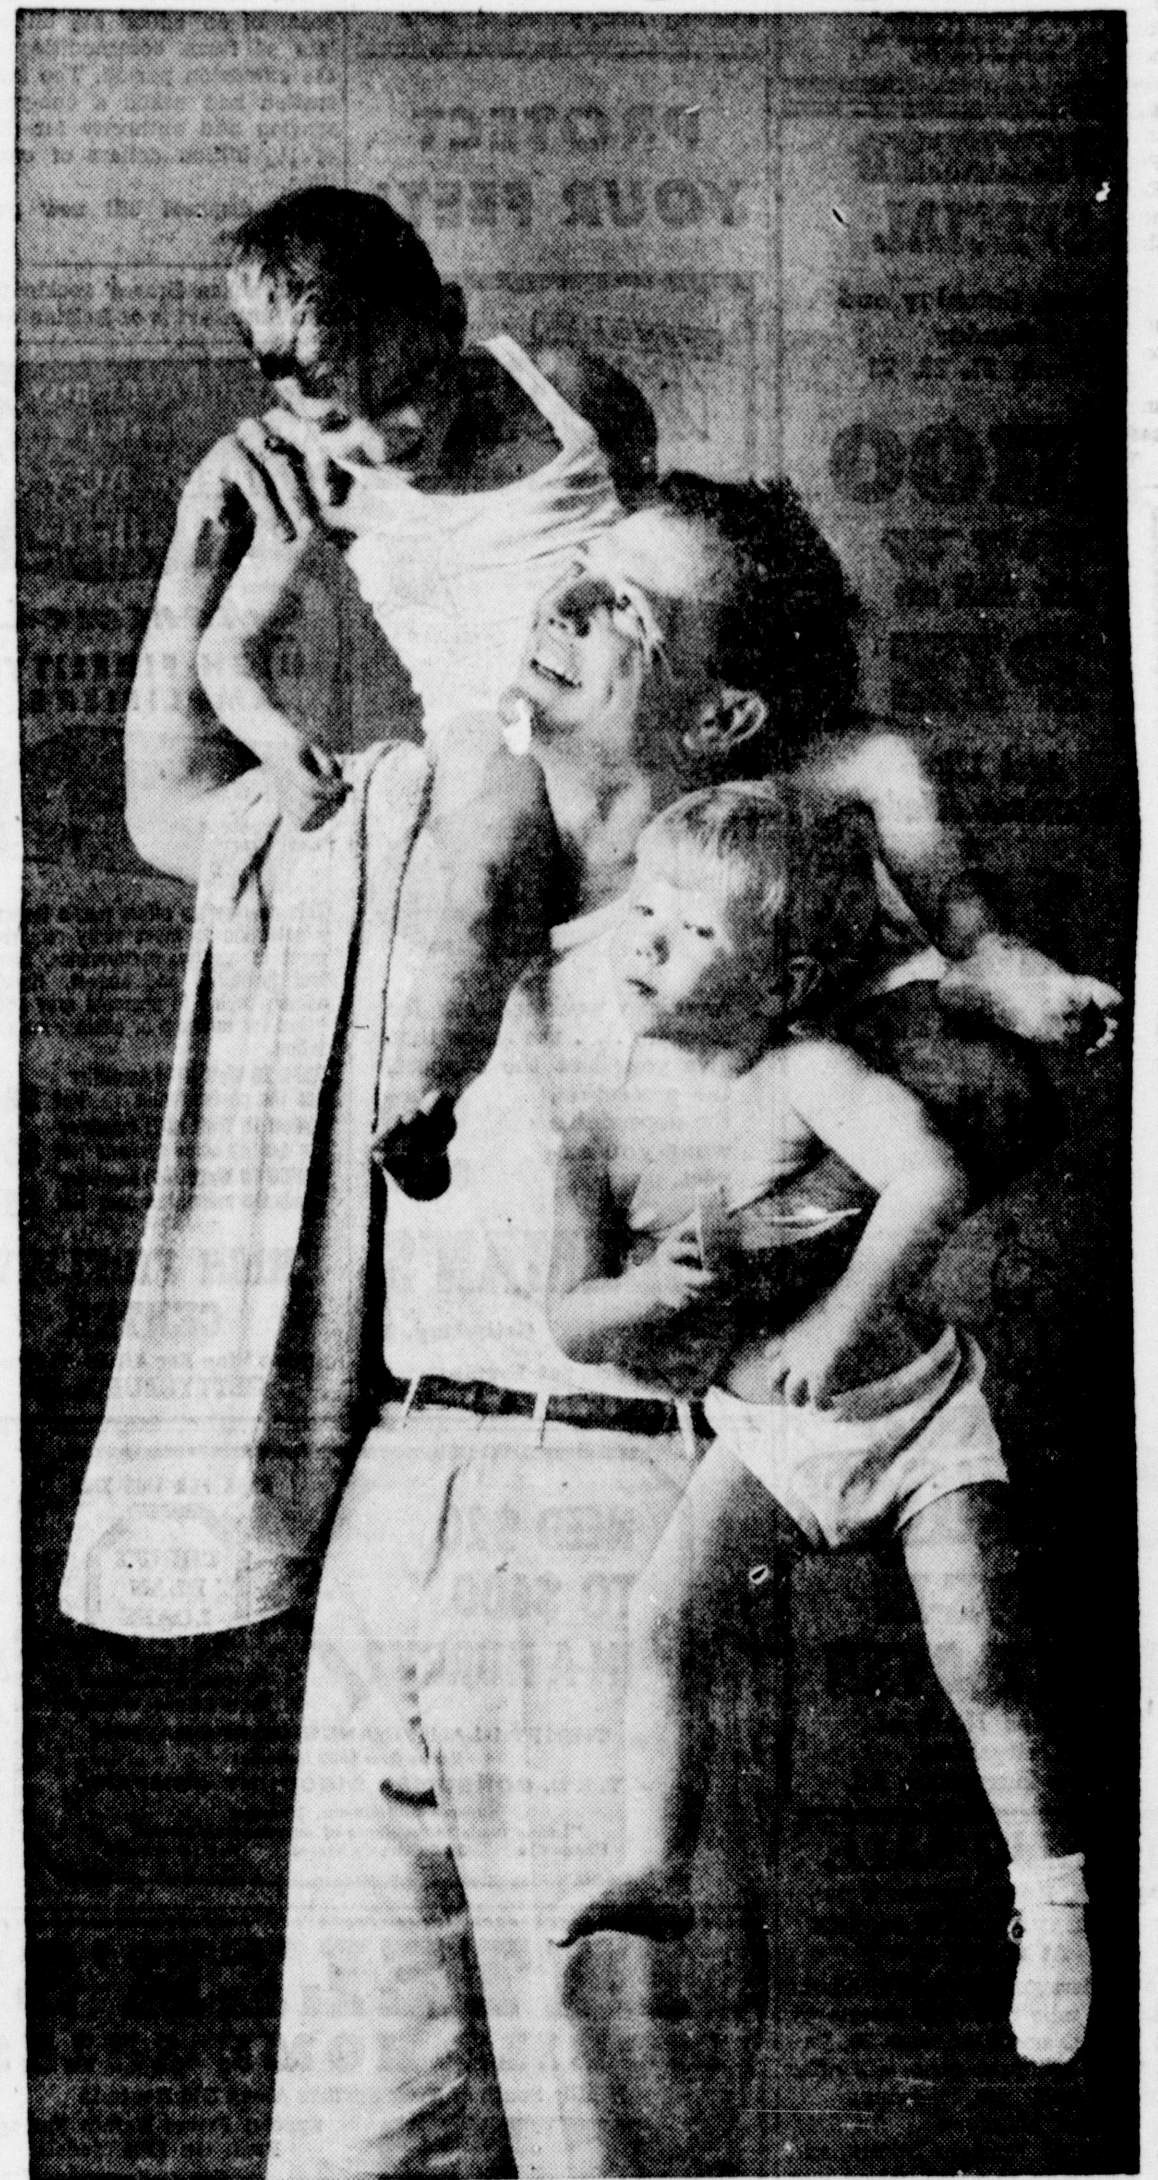

At such distances there is no leeway and accuracy is important. The "knotted string" method is a simple way to get the right distance every time. The exact distance is measured on a string and marked with two knots. One end is tied to the camera lens at the first knot. When the string is held out taut, the second knot shows the distance at which the flower must be positioned.

Allow Viewfinder Difference
However, getting the exact distance is not the only problem. At such close distances, most camera viewfinders have a higher viewpoint than what the lens is actually taking. With a portra No. 3 lens, for example, you'd have to make a mark one-quarter of the way down from the top of the viewfinder and keep your subject under that guide line.

A better method which solves accurate distance methods and correct framing at the same time is to make use of a device called a focal frame. It can be bought ready-made at your camera store or built by photo fans who follow the do-it-yourself theory. It consists of an iron rod frame which extends out from the camera base and makes a skeleton framework of the exact area to be photographed. To make it yourself, photograph a newspaper propped against a wall with the camera position accurately measured and marked. Leave the newspaper in place and your negative will show exactly what area is taken in and act as a guide in building the frame.

Spring's Here On Calendar But Weather Map Disagrees

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—Spring has made it on the calendar no matter where it may have got bogged down on the weather map. Almost the only businessmen sorry to see winter go are those in the coal and fuel oil and natural gas industries and the makers of tranquilizers.

A lot of businessmen are eager to welcome spring. For instance, all those who cater to the growing American trend to outdoor living. For one thing, they expect Americans to pay nearly 1½ billion dollars this year on planting and maintaining grass plots, from the smallest of front yards to the plushiest of golf links.

Workers expect new jobs to open up soon on the farms. The coming of better building weather should furnish more work. Already the lumber areas of the Northwest report a rush of orders for plywood which has firmed prices there after months of price weakness and widespread unemployment.

Spring To Help
Garment makers who have staked large sums of money on the chemise are confident they'll get it back when spring sends women into the stores in greater numbers.

Merchants are watching for the expected spring pickup in retail sales in general. Bad weather in February turned many retailers gloomy but there's still time to recoup, although Myron S. Silbert, vice president of Federated Department Stores, tells the Dallas meeting of the National Industrial Conference Board that because of weakness in consumer durables total trade this spring may be off from last year by 2 or 3 per cent.

The travel industry looks for its biggest year. The Department of Commerce predicts a further rise in foreign travel in 1958 and says that last year Americans spent nearly two billion dollars that way, a 6½ per cent gain over 1956.

MAN IS FOUND DEAD

ARMORE, Pa. (AP)—A man believed affiliated with Frick Chemical Laboratories in Princeton, N.J., was found dead beside his parked car yesterday, apparently the victim of a weather accident. Police identified him as Albert I. Gereche of Long Island City, N.Y. Near him was a dangle, broken power line. Police said he was apparently electrocuted. The line was brought down by the weight of snow.

Cards on his person indicated his business affiliation.

WILL CHANGE NAME

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP)—The Lehigh Valley Coal Corp. will change its name to Lehigh Valley Industries Inc.

The change was approved yesterday by an overwhelming vote of the firm's stockholders. The stockholders also rejected a company proposal to purchase all outstanding first preferred stock.

SEEK AGREEMENT ON FREEZE OF FARM SUPPORTS

By B. L. LIVINGSTONE
WASHINGTON (AP)—Democratic leaders pushed today for fast Senate-House agreement to speed to President Eisenhower a one-year freeze of farm price supports and planting allowances.

The House passed the price freeze bill 210-172 in the face of a presidential veto threat and GOP cries of election year "politics." Neither the House vote nor a 50-43 vote by which the Senate passed a similar bill last week equalled the two thirds necessary to override a veto.

Would Cancel Reductions
The bill would cancel impending reductions in price supports for 1958 at a saving to the farm economy claimed by Democrats to amount to more than half a billion dollars. There was no indication when the Senate would act on it.

The Senate, meantime, passed a bill to extend for two years beyond June 30 the government's authority to dispose of farm surplus commodities abroad in exchange for foreign currencies, or as gifts in case of disaster.

On Voice Vote
Passage came on a voice vote after the Senate rejected 44-39 an effort by Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) to force Secretary of Agriculture Benson to use barter deals for at least half a billion dollars worth of surpluses each year. Permissive authority for barter remains.

The Senate bill authorizes disposal of an added 3½ billion dollars of farm commodities during the extension period. The administration had asked a one-year extension and authority for disposal of 1½ billion dollars of commodities.

The disposal bill now goes to the House.

In the southeastern part of the state. The town of Oley, Pa., 14 miles southeast of Reading, reported 36 inches of snow. The Harrisburg area was struggling under a 30-inch fall. The western part of the state suffered much less from the storm and winds although three western counties estimated snow depths ranging up to 13 inches.

No Lights, Heat, Phones

Thousands of Pennsylvania homes were lightless, heatless and phoneless. Roads were blocked, transportation was at a crawl, and many trees were broken or stripped of their branches.

The Pennsylvania Turnpike was closed for 111 miles from Harrisburg to the New Jersey state line. An estimated 800 persons were stranded at a small restaurant on the turnpike near Morgantown, Pa. The food supply had to be rationed. One man collapsed and died after forcing his way through drifts from his car to the restaurant.

State Of Emergency

Southern New Jersey was wracked by gale-force winds and up to 10 inches of wet, freezing, snow. Northern New Jersey had up to 13 inches.

At Camden, N.J., a state of emergency was declared in Camden County. Civil defense officials ordered all public and parochial schools closed because of the danger from live electrical wires pulled down by the snow. Half a million homes and business establishments in the heavily populated area were without light and heat. At Glassboro, N.J., some 5,000 persons were evacuated from their heatless homes to heated public schools. In the New York City area, four persons were killed in traffic accidents.

500,000 Homes Are Powerless By Storm

NEWARK, N. J. (AP)—Winter's final punch knocked out electric power in South Jersey and left the rest of the state reeling under heavy snows.

The wet snow began accumulating only hours before the official advent of spring at 10:06 p.m. yesterday. It pulled down electric and phone lines, clogged roads and caused tides to rise up to three feet above normal.

Hardest hit was the southern part of the state, where nearly 500,000 homes and businesses remained without power and 25,000 telephones were out of service.

STASSEN EYES STATE CONTROL SAYS BLOOM

HARRISBURG (AP)—Harold E. Stassen is an "old pro" whom the Republican organization should not discount in its independent bid for the GOP gubernatorial nomination in the May 30 primary, says GOP State Chairman George I. Bloom.

Bloom made this assessment of Stassen last night on a television new panel program (WTPA-TV "Capitol Correspondents").

At the same time he repeated charges that Stassen would use the governorship, if he won nomination and was elected in the fall, as a springboard to a presidential nomination in 1960.

"Eyes On 1960"

Bloom quoted Stassen as telling him in Philadelphia hotel last fall: "George, I'm not going to try to kid you. I've got my eye on 1960. If I were elected governor I'd control the Pennsylvania delegation (to the presidential nomination convention) and get the nomination or be able to swing it for someone else."

Bloom said he had "no criticism" of William S. Livengood Jr., Somerset County attorney who is the other independent fighting the gubernatorial nomination.

The state chairman added that, if someone other than McGonigle wins the nomination "I feel that the state committee would support the will of the party."

"Any good Republican ought to get behind the men who win the primary election," Bloom declared.

Report 300 Troops And Their Commander Trapped Near Lake

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — The army commander, who rebelled Sunday and held the North Sumatra port of Medan for 27 hours before it was recaptured, is now trapped, the Indonesian army claimed today.

The army spokesman, Lt. Col. Rudy Pirmagadi, said Maj. Boyke Nainn Golan and about 300 troops are isolated near Lake Toba, a famous resort 50 miles southwest of Medan.

Golan's battalion in Medan rebelled against the Jakarta government Sunday but Jakarta troops retook the important commercial center the next day.

The pursuit was the only military activity, aside from scattered guerrilla fighting, reported on Sumatra, Pakanbaru, the Central Sumatra oil center recaptured by Jakarta forces March 12, was reported quiet.

100 Rebels Killed
The chief of army intelligence, Col. Sukendro, claimed that more than 100 rebels have been killed in the five-week-old civil war while casualties of the Jakarta government so far are only two killed.

The Dutch liner Oranje landed some 520 foreign evacuees from Medan at Singapore today. They included 122 Americans — mostly women and children, 280 Dutch and more than 100 Britons.

Two ships are scheduled to evacuate foreigners — mostly Dutch — from the west coast port of Padang, the rebels military headquarters.

Evacuate Foreigners
The government radio said arrangements were also made to evacuate 30 foreigners from Rengat, an oil center of the U.S. Standard Vacuum Oil Co. 100 miles southeast of Pakanbaru. Stanvac's Indonesian representative, E. Berlin, said 60 Americans would remain at Lirik, the company's Central Sumatran base six miles north of Rengat.

Navigation Minister Mohammad Natsir announced the release of ships of the Dutch PM shipping line which were seized last December. Natsir said the line was banned from future trade among Indonesia's islands.

Intelligence chief Sukendro repeated earlier charges that American arms seized at Pakanbaru had been airdropped to the rebels but today added that the plane was a 754 (DC4) from Formosa.

Markings on some of the weapons indicated they were made in the United States in 1952, Sukendro said, but he declined to say who he thought supplied them.

HONOLULU (AP) — Col. Rufus S. Bratton, 65, retired Army intelligence officer who helped break the Japanese codes before the Pearl Harbor attack, died Wednesday. He served as head of the Far Eastern military intelligence in the War Department prior to the outbreak of World War II.

Table tennis was first introduced as a mere parlor pastime, but now it is a highly skilled game with title tournaments attracting many fans.

4 STRUCK DRESS FIRMS REOPEN

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (AP) — Four area dress firms struck since March 5 planned to reopen today after reaching strike settlements with the International Ladies Garment Workers Union.

They are Bethlehem Garment Co., Bethlehem; Delaware Dress Co., Easton; and Queen City Dress Co., and Matte Dress Co., both of Allentown.

The four firms yesterday signed a membership agreement with the United Better Dress Manufacturing Assn. of New York, thus giving them coverage under an ILGWU contract.

They originally quit the Pennsylvania Garment Manufacturers Assn. now engaged in a strike with the ILGWU.

Eight struck dress plants in the Wilkes-Barre area also have quit the PGMA and joined with the United Better Dress Group, according to Oscar Newman, acting manager of the ILGWU's Allentown-Reading district.

An estimated 3,000 striking workers at Wilkes-Barre and Pittston yesterday heard Julius Hockman, vice president of the ILGWU outline the gains made in an industry-wide contract.

The key to the whole agreement, Hockman told the workers, is proper piece rates properly settled with machinery to enforce that settlement.

THREE COMPETE FOR STATE TITLE

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP) — Three Pennsylvania high school boys will compete tonight for the 1958 American Legion statewide oratorical contest championship.

The three, survivors of nearly a thousand students who competed, are Fred Meyers of Pittsburgh St. Basil's High School, representing western Pennsylvania; Charles P. Murphy Jr., South Soranton Catholic High School, representing the eastern section and John E. Hambright, Lancaster McCaskey High, who will represent central Pennsylvania.

The winner at the finals at Pennsylvania State University tonight will receive a gubernatorial scholarship and represent Pennsylvania in sectional contests leading to the National American Legion contest later this month.

When you are baking popovers, choose a recipe that includes some butter or margarine; this inclusion yields a slightly richer hot bread than the fatless formula.
